Singing the Bible's hymnal: Worship institute spotlights psalter

January 23, 2024 / Reporter / By Cheryl Magness

This summer, for the first time in seven years, LCMS pastors, musicians, lay leaders and more will gather to grow in the knowledge and practice of Lutheran worship at a national Synod conference. Under the theme "Songs of Deliverance: Psalms in the Great Congregation," the 2024 Institute on Liturgy, Preaching and Church Music will take place July 9–12 at Concordia University, Nebraska (CUNE), Seward, Neb.

The Rev. Sean Daenzer, director of LCMS Worship, says the institute will communicate that everyone who is in the Body of Christ — "every voice in every pew, pulpit and balcony" — has a part in the song of the church.

That song, Daenzer says, includes "not only the Confession and Absolution, the preaching and the Lord's Supper, but every part of the liturgy ordered to surround worshipers in the Word of God." The psalms, as the Bible's hymnal, are an essential part of that liturgy.

"The psalter is ... filled with the songs of the Lord's deliverance," writes Daenzer in his welcome letter in the registration information. Noting that the sinner is desperately in need of deliverance from sin, he says the church is wise to take up the psalms daily "in Christ Jesus, who prays them first and best."

Voices old and new

The institute has something for everyone: church musicians, pastors, teachers, artists, lay leaders and anyone who wants to learn about the church's worship. Presentations will feature long-time experts in their respective fields as well as up-and-coming voices with fresh perspectives.

Keynote speakers are:

- Charles Brown, Concordia University Chicago, River Forest, Ill., on singing the psalms;
- The Rev. Dr. Adam Hensley, Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, on the order and arrangement of the psalter; and
- The Rev. Dr. Geoffrey Boyle, Concordia Theological Seminary, Fort Wayne, on the psalms as a conversation between God and His people.

Among other topics, psalm-specific breakout sessions will address:

- The psalms as a source of comfort;
- Using the psalms in preaching;
- Psalm resources for small congregations;
- Composing music for the psalms; and
- Leading psalm-singing from the piano.

There will also be a variety of sessions on many other worship-related topics such as preaching, organ playing, choir directing, worship planning and more.

All the psalms

A centerpiece of the 2024 institute is a plan to pray the entire psalter — all 150 psalms — over the course of the gathering's four days. And yes, says Daenzer with a smile, "that includes all of Psalm 119." A variety of approaches to praying and singing the psalms will be employed.

Other activities include:

- A parallel youth choir track for unchanged voices that will provide music for some of the institute's worship;
- A series of recitals featuring professional LCMS church musicians as well as student musicians;
- "Bach at the Brewery," an opportunity to raise a glass and sing some Bach chorales just for fun;
- An ice cream social complete with folk dancing; and
- Nightly Compline.

Paul Steitz, an elder at Trinity Lutheran Church, Broken Arrow, Okla., said that he will be attending the institute and encouraging others to do so.

"It was at the 2014 institute in Seward, Neb., that I was first exposed to a level of Lutheran worship I didn't know existed," Steitz said. "Never before had I been exposed to such a thorough rendering of divine worship in all its beauty. Singing the liturgy with hundreds of fellow Lutherans instilled in me a profound appreciation for how we worship. ..."

"Over the years, I have been blessed to have met and worked with some of the best musicians in the LCMS. In each case, what stood out the most for me was the devotion these musicians have to the conservation of the liturgy and why it is so important to the future of the church. I want my choir director, his wife and as many other members of my church choir as possible to experience the rich treasure of Lutheran worship. There is so much to be learned and taken back to our respective congregations, regardless of size or musical resources. I can't recommend this event more strongly."

Kathleen Stahlhut, a member of Chapel of the Cross, St. Louis, has served the church for many years as both a professional musician and a volunteer. She is planning to attend the institute and is encouraging her parish musician to do so also. "It will be his first," she said, adding that she "loves the worship services and comparing notes with other people."

Tom Honebrink, a lay deacon at Catalina Lutheran Church, Tucson, who has attended two institutes in the past, said he is "eagerly anticipating this summer's gathering."

"And 'gathering' is not a word carelessly chosen," Honebrink continued, "as it is the coming together that has been of monumental importance for me personally. The camaraderie and fellowship serve to magnify the value of the learning, worship and reception of God's good gifts throughout the event."

"As a layperson, it is a blessing to receive encouragement from others who serve in similar ways in the church militant and to offer such support in return. Many thanks to all who bring about the smooth execution of this undertaking. May God once again bless the leaders, teachers and hearers."

Psalms, hymns and spiritual songs

"The Lutheran church is no place for silence," writes Daenzer in his welcome letter. "From pulpit and chancel, from balcony and choir loft, and from each voice in between, Christ's holy Word sounds, echoing the stories and truths that bear His blessed Name."

The 2024 institute is an opportunity to "let the word of Christ dwell in you richly, teaching and admonishing one another in all wisdom, singing psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, with thankfulness in your hearts to God" (Col. 3:16).

Christ Jesus lay in death's strong bands, for our offenses given;
But now at God's right hand He stands, and brings us life from heaven.

Wherefore let us joyful be, and sing to God right thankfully
Loud songs of Alleluia! Alleluia!

No son of man could conquer Death, such mischief sin had wrought us,
For innocence dwelt not on earth, and therefore Death had brought us
Into thralldom from of old and ever grew more strong and bold
And kept us in his bondage. Alleluia!

But Jesus Christ, God's only Son, to our low state descended,
The cause of Death He has undone, his power forever ended,
Ruined all his right and claim and left him nothing but the name,
His sting is lost forever. Alleluia!

It was a strange and dreadful strife when life and death contended;
The victory remained with life; the reign of death was ended.
Stripped of power, no more it reigns, an empty form alone remains
Death's sting is lost forever! Alleluia!

Here the true Paschal Lamb we see, Whom God so freely gave us;
He died on the accursed tree—so strong His love!—to save us.
See, His blood doth mark our door; faith points to it, Death passes over,
And Satan cannot harm us. Alleluia!

So let us keep the festival where to the Lord invites us;
Christ is Himself the joy of all, the Sun that warms and lights us.
By His grace He doth impart eternal sunshine to the heart;
The night of sin is ended! Alleluia!

Then let us feast this Easter day on the true Bread of heaven;
The Word of grace hath purged away the old and wicked leaven.
Christ alone our souls will feed; He is our Meat and Drink indeed;
Faith lives upon no other! Alleluia!

~Martin Luther

If all Jesus had to do was die, then why is Easter such a big deal?

Easter is a very important day. Easter is the day that we celebrate Jesus' resurrection from the dead.

After Jesus was crucified, His disciples were very sad. It seemed like their God and friend had been defeated and killed. They had forgotten that Jesus told them that He would rise from the dead. They must have thought Mary Magdelene was crazy when she told them that Jesus had appeared to her at the tomb where He was buried. But her story was true! Jesus was alive! He had risen from the dead!

Later, Jesus appeared to His disciples many times to prove it. And that's just what He did, He proved it! By His resurrection, He proved to the world that He was victorious over death and paid for our sins completely. Now, the first words you hear in church on Easter Sunday are: "The Lord is risen. He is risen indeed! Alleluia!"

Parents: Help your children to recognize the different places in our worship service which speak of Jesus' resurrection (the Creed is a good example). Point out some of the symbols in the church that might aid in their understanding of the resurrection. Remind them that we join in His resurrection through our Baptism!

MARCH STEWARDSHIP

Cherish What God Has Given

In the Small Catechism, Luther follows a pattern when explaining the Ten Commandments. With each commandment, there is something prohibited, and something commanded. There is something wrong which must be avoided, and there is something right which must be done.

The one time this pattern is not followed is with the Sixth Commandment.

“You shall not commit adultery. What does this mean? We should fear and love God so that we lead a sexually pure and decent life in what we say and do, and husband and wife love and honor each other” (SC I).

Here, the catechism focuses solely on the positive: we should live in a chaste and decent manner in both word and deed, and husbands and wives should cherish and honor one another.

Keeping this commandment, and all of the commandments, is a lot easier if you see your chastity and your spouse as a gift from God that is to be protected and cherished. In the same way, you will find keeping the Fourth Commandment easier if you see your parents and other authorities as a gift from God, given to you for your blessing.

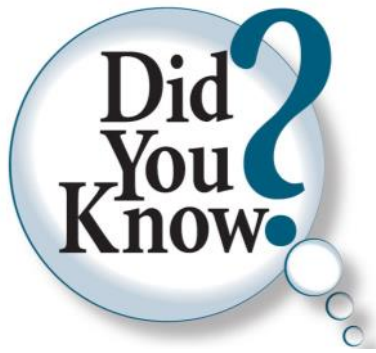

This is the key stewardship insight that runs through all of the Christian life: Everything that we have has been given to us by God. We deserve none of it. All of it comes to us by God’s fatherly kindness and open-handed generosity. If I know that everything I have — every possession, every relationship, every ability — is a gift from God, then my perspective changes. All of these things are both gifts to be cherished, and things that I should direct towards God’s purposes. My possessions should be shared generously according to how God has called me in my family, church and community. My spouse should be cherished, loved and encouraged in faith. My children are on loan from my own Heavenly Father, and I have but a brief time to show them the path of righteousness. My neighbor is a gift from God so that I can imitate His kindness toward me.

No matter the gift, everything has been given to me by God so that I may participate in His own goodness and open-handed generosity.
