Youth Gathering survey reflects teens' faith, concerns

January 28, 2026 / Reporter / By Julianna Shults

This past July, just under 19,000 youth and adult participants attended the 2025 Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod (LCMS) Youth Gathering in New Orleans. Focused on the theme of “ENDURE,” they participated in Bible studies, servant events, educational sessions and more.

Gathering participants also had a chance to take the LCMS Youth Poll, a survey that has been conducted at every Gathering since the first one in 1980. Questions have been added and adjusted over the years, resulting in snapshots in time, as well as a look across time, at changing issues, beliefs and concerns. The results of the poll provide feedback that enables the church to better serve its youth.

Because the poll is only taken by a sampling of Gathering participants, there are limitations to what the data can reveal. Nevertheless, the results give helpful insight to those who care about young people and are involved in forming their faith.

The Rev. Dr. Mark Kiessling, director of LCMS Youth Ministry, said, “It is a joy to see the number of young people who align with scriptural teaching on salvation, God’s Word and other core theological matters. In some areas, this alignment has increased compared to recent polls. We give thanks for the faith of young people, as well as for the prayers, love and teaching of parents and caring adults in LCMS congregations. We are also encouraged to see a rise in personal faith practices, such as reading the Bible and praying on their own.”

Key findings in 2025

The 2025 poll revealed:

- Over the past several polls before this one, there has been an increase in youth responding “I don’t know” to cultural hot topics. However, in 2025, this response was consistently lower, often 3–5%, while answers aligning with the church’s teaching went up, showing that youth display a stronger commitment to biblical teaching.
- 20% of youth report having a leadership role (committee member, assisting with Christian education, etc.) in their church.
- Over two-thirds of youth feel they are “always busy,” with 35% saying they don’t have enough time to get everything done. This feeling increases as youth get older, peaking at 17.
- 70% agreed that teens are a priority at their church.
- 85% of youth agreed or strongly agreed that there are at least five adults in their congregation who know them and regularly talk to them.
- Teens report using social media primarily for messaging and for entertainment. 77% report they rarely or do not post about themselves on social media like Instagram, Snapchat or Facebook.
- 49% say they spend “a bit too much time” and 22% say they spend “way too much time” on social media. Yet, they struggle to decrease their usage, with 37% saying their social media time has not changed in the past year and another 48% saying their usage has increased.

- While youth taking the poll have always reported low rates of risky behavior like smoking, marijuana use, binge drinking and sexual activity, reported rates of these activities have continued to drop.
- 34% of youth say they have struggled with their mental health in the past year, with an additional 23% saying they have struggled in the past, but not in the last year.
- Youth named friends, parents and other family members as the top three places they would turn if they were struggling. However, 60% said they would “very likely” or “possibly” speak to no one.
- 74% agree or strongly agree that they regularly discuss faith at home, and 57% pray together with their family regularly.
- When asked how supportive various people around them were of their faith, 92% said their parents, 85% said their congregation, and 74% said their peers were supportive of their faith. 33% of teens said the influencers they watched were supportive of their faith, with 55% of them reporting those influencers as neutral to faith.
- Every poll has asked youth to select three issues that concern them most about their life and/or the world. In 2025, the top five issues of concern for LCMS youth were abortion, “my future,” mental health, college and “my personal faith.”

Taken as a whole, the poll shows that LCMS teens have a growing concern on a breadth of issues, including an increasingly divided world. Their areas of concern and what they want the church to talk about are more widely spread than before among theological, personal and world issues. Youth in LCMS congregations are faithful and thoughtful, yet they struggle with how to navigate today’s challenging world.

LCMS Youth Ministry staff hope this poll data provides insights to help begin conversations with the youth in LCMS families, congregations and communities. They also pray it prompts congregations to continue to care well for young people and point them to the Gospel of Jesus.

Fish, Ashes, Purple and Christ's Passion

As a kid, I hated eating fish. As an adult, I love eating it. I enjoy All-you-can-eat fish fries like our local restaurants offer, and those served by churches during Lent.

I, however, don't eat fish as a symbolic act of repentance or, as many believe it to be, an act of penance that can actually bring about repentance. These are not part of the Christian faith.

Scripture never commands us to eat fish either symbolically or as penance. The Webster's Dictionary describes it as something a person does, an appeasement or punishment that he bears to show sorrow for his sins. If one sees eating fish this way, there is no Scriptural foundation for it. On the other hand, there is nothing wrong with eating fish as a reminder of the reason as long as we do not make it necessary for faith.

Nevertheless, this human tradition remains deeply rooted in many Christian consciences. Even though it has no Scriptural mandate or, as historians argue, is there any clear evidence of when or why it was started. And yet, it retains its religious and cultural importance.

Culturally, for instance, McDonald's vigorously promotes its filet-o-fish sandwich during Lent, all because a franchise owner created it to bolster his falling burger sales during the season. I also found that eating fish is no longer required by any church during Lent, although some recommend eating fish every Friday throughout the year as an act of penance.

Ashes have also been historically important during Lent, appearing as early as the 6th century as historians tell us, but not gaining full acceptance until the 10th century. Back then, the ashes were blessed by the bishops and then applied as a sacramental act as eating fish was considered.

Today, ashes, like eating fish, remains part of Christendom. However, the act of blessing the ashes to impart some spiritual energy has been discontinued.

Again, there is no Biblical evidence to support that blessing them provides any sacramental power regarding faith and repentance. They remain for many, nonetheless, an expression of their desire for repentance.

The royal color purple is also familiar during Lent since Pontius Pilate's soldiers placed a purple robe on Jesus to mock Him during His trial. So, I wear a purple clerical shirt and purple vestments during Lent, while the church puts up purple paraments to remind us of the coming passion of our Lord.

All these traditions have been accepted as being useful in helping us focus on Christ's passion. For many in our culture, however, they have no meaning, but are simply seen as entrenched trappings of the season, like the Easter Bunny and hiding colored eggs.

Now you may be wondering why I wrote briefly about these traditions in this way. The reason is, I was recently asked by a staunch unbeliever, "Your traditions of Lent seem silly. How can they actually bring someone to repentance?" To which I answered, being true to Christ's Gospel, "They cannot, for Christ never taught that such things can. There are no acts of penance as Webster describes 'penance'. Only Christ through His Passion can accomplish true repentance in us."

The purpose of Lent, therefore, is to focus the eyes of the believer and unbeliever alike on Christ who hung from His cross where He bore mankind's sin by shedding His blood that we might be freed forever from the bondage sin has placed us in.

And, since we all needed Christ to accomplish this work of salvation on our behalf, there is surely nothing we can do to bring about repentance in and of ourselves. There are no foods we can eat, no special ashes we can apply, or royal colors to wear that can change us. There simply are no penitential acts that can bring about true repentance.

Only Jesus Christ our Savior can, who the Scriptures direct us to look to as the One who creates and perfects faith and repentance in us: "Looking unto Jesus, the author and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God." (Heb. 12:2 KJV)

God's blessings during this season of Lent!!

What is “Lent”?

Lent is a season of the Church Year that lasts six weeks. Lent begins on Ash Wednesday and ends the day before Easter Sunday. During these six weeks we look forward to Good Friday, the day our Lord died on the cross to pay for our sins, and to Easter Sunday, the day He rose from the dead to prove it!

How can I remember to think about Jesus during Lent?

You can give up something you enjoy during Lent. You might see your parents give up their morning coffee. Maybe your brother or sister has decided not to eat candy during Lent. Every time you think about doing what you gave up for Lent, it will remind you of what Jesus gave up for you — His life! Blessings to you as you experience the wonderful journey of Lent!

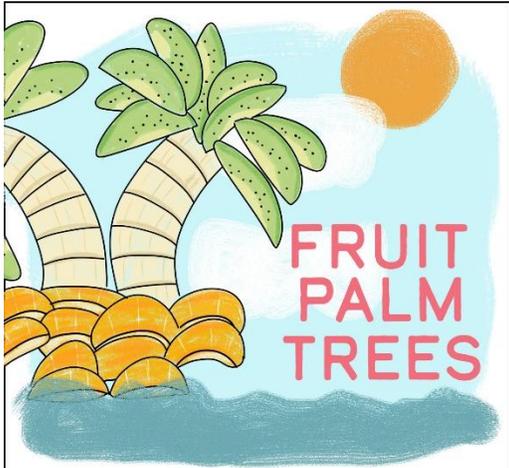

Parents:

We encourage you to help your child decide on something in their life that they can give up during Lent. Be sure to give up something too. Being their example and companion on this journey makes a big difference!

These cheerful "palm trees" make a bright reminder of the celebration that greeted Jesus as he entered Jerusalem.

What you need:

- Bananas (for the tree trunks)
- Kiwis or green grapes (for the palm leaves)
- Mandarin oranges (for the ground)

What you do:

1. Slice bananas in half lengthwise and place vertically on a plate.
2. Arrange kiwi slices or grapes at the top to form palm fronds.
3. Add oranges at the base.
4. Serve immediately or chill until ready to serve.

Scripture Tie-In:
 "Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord!"

MARCH STEWARDSHIP

As a kid, I remember my Grandma and Grandpa Diepholz' home with extraordinary joy. Family fun. Great food. A legacy of faith. One of my lasting memories of that house was the table that sat between their twin beds. It contained a lamp, a Bible, a catechism and a hymnal. These were well-worn, as Grandpa read to Grandma every night before they went to sleep! What a treasure these tools of faith are! Let us spend some time this month in the hymnal to help us better understand our life as Christian stewards! To do this, we will use LSB 785 "We Praise You, O God."

*We Praise You, O God, our Redeemer, Creator;
In grateful devotion our tributes we bring.
We lay it before You, and kneel and adore You;
We bless Your holy name, glad praises we sing.*

Stewardship is an act of worship. It flows from the grace and mercy we have received in Jesus! Faithful stewardship can never start with us. Our sinful nature will make us and our desires the center of our worship. Our tributes, our giving and our serving only flow from how the Lord Jesus has given of Himself for our sake! When we have this in clear view, our knees bow and our praises flow freely! All this flows from the Name that has been placed on us in Holy Baptism!

*We worship You, God of our Fathers, we bless You;
Through trial and tempest our guide You have been.
When perils o'ertake us, You will not forsake us,
And with Your help, O Lord, our struggles we win.*

Our stewardship that flows from what God has done for us in Jesus Christ is rooted in history. Passed from one generation to the next, stewards of the Gospel connect God's provision in the past to His continued care in the present.

So often, the struggles we face are self-inflicted. While there are indeed perils that can shake us from outside of ourselves, we are more likely enduring the suffering that comes because of our own choices that are outside the Word and will of God! But even in these situations, the Lord who loves us will never forsake us. When we become selfish, self-serving and self-destructive, the Lord NEVER abandons! The Lord helps us to overcome the struggles in faith and win the victory the steward rejoices in!

*With voices united our praises we offer
And gladly our songs of thanksgiving we raise.
With You, Lord, beside us, Your strong arm will guide us.
To You, our great redeemer, forever be praise!*

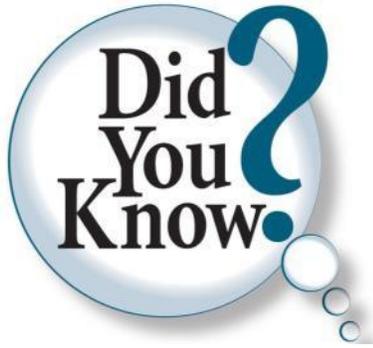

Stewardship is more than just an individual thing. There is a corporate nature to our steward life. We see this in the Divine Service. There, stewards of all ages, all economic strata and all languages are joined in the singular task of praise. This stewardship of praise flows from the altar to us, out into the world and then back to the altar! God's strong arm leads us in this stewardship 24/7. This makes stewardship, in all times and places, a matter of worship. We praise our Redeemer who has entrusted us with this great stewardship of the Gospel which forgives our sins, grants us new life and salvation. And this treasure we freely share for God's glory and the benefit of our neighbor!.
